THE CITY ELECTION.

The argument which we publish elsewhere on the constitutionality of the new city charter, and the validity of the election to be held thereunder one week from to-day, will be deemed conclusive by all fair minded men. The decision of the Supreme Court of Illinois in the case of Galalin county, there cited, knocks the special reading of the Democrat into flinders, and assures all parties that if any litigation shall grow out of the election, it will result in the prompt affirmation of the charter, and all acts done in pursuance thereof, by the same Court, whose present Chief Justice delivered the opinion from which the quotations are made. We learn also that the Attorney of the Sewerage Board has, at the request of the Commissioners, prepared an exhaustive legal opinion, covering the whole ground in controversy, in which the constitutionality of the charter and the validity of the election next Tuesday are affirmed in the most positive manner. The gentleman who is responsible for this opinion is the newly-appointed U. S. District Attorney.

The only surprising circumstance in the case is that any one should have doubted the legality of the coming election, except those who hope to hold city offices the ensuing year in spite of the people. It now becomes a question of immediate interest, who shall carry on the municipal government the ensuing year. We have heretofore urged the necessity of holding a Republican Convention and nominating a full ticket to be voted for next Tuesday, unless we are ready to acknowledge the Republican party impotent and beaten in advance. We again urge that the Committee, in whose hands the interests of the party are intrusted, issue their call for a Convention. Events are rapidly tending to the conclusion that there is henceforth to be a GOVERNMENT OF THE UNITED STATES, unless the people, by their own supineness, shall refuse to have one. The momentous issue is in the hands of the American citizens. They can sustain their own Constitution, they can maintain the supremacy of their own flag, they can put down the accursed treason which has well nigh ruined their country—or they can do the opposite. There is no better time for the people of Chicago to express an opinion on these prodigious questions than now. The result of Tuesday's election will be awaited with the profoundest interest all over the land, as the first popular verdict on the vigorous policy adopted by the government at Washington. Let this issue be fairly made, and we shall have no fear of the result.

P. S.—Since writing the above we have been placed in possession of the official call of the Republican City Committee, for a Convention to be held on Saturday next to nominate candidates for city officers, which will be found in another part of this paper.

HOW IT HAPPENS.

"How do you manage to keep up the interest of your dispatches?" said one of the editors of this paper, when lately in Washington, to a reporter for the New York press. "Easy enough," was the reply. We invent a story to-day and contradict it to-morrow; and thus the pot is kept all the while bubbling." What was intended as a bit of persiflage, is unfortunately too true, as our Associated Press dispatches, culled mainly from the special telegraphic correspondence of the New York journals, from day to day are proving. We would be glad to avoid the necessity of putting their guesses and fictions into circulation in the West; but to have not the means of distinguishing the true from the false in what is sent over the wires, and as the appetite of the public is excited to the last degree of credulity, we are compelled to print all that is sent, permit our readers to take it, each with the grains of allowance necessary to its digestion.

The truth is, and every day makes it more plain, the Cabinet is determined to keep its own secrets, and that the lively gentlemen who "do the sensation items" in the metropolitan papers are just as profoundly ignorant of what is doing or intended by the wires over which their dispatches are sent. Mr. Seward and his advisers are engaged in important matters, and their success depends upon the secrecy with which their deliberations and resolves are guarded. Possibly, however, Mr. Chase and Mr. Seward, or Mr. Cameron and Mr. Welles daily unbosom themselves to the Times man and Herald man; but until the Times and Herald agree in their statements of fact, unsophisticated people hereaway will be quite content to believe that the members of the Cabinet have the reticence which becomes their grave and responsible posts. We have no doubt that they are doing, with the means at their disposal, all that the situation demands; and we are content to await the results of their action. At all events, we are not silly enough to quarrel with them on the strength of statements of men no deeper in their secrets than we are ourselves—a bit of philosophy which we cannot too strongly recommend to our impatient readers.

A CHANGE OF TUNE.

It is one of the most noticeable things in the despatches from the seat of war—the altered tone which the confederated scoundrels hold toward the North. Lately they were to "carry the war into Africa, march upon Washington, spend their first winter in Philadelphia, their next in New York and their third in Boston," &c., &c. That was when secession went on and Uncle Sam was snubbed with impunity. But latterly they see a wicked light in the old fellow's eyes, and now they declare their intention to "resist to the bitter end," to "die defending their altars, their niggers and their homes," and to do various other unpleasant and dangerous things, if the Government marches down upon them. We are not disappointed. Let the Administration put forth the power at its command, and sixty days would not elapse before the most ferocious of these Bobadils would be willing to make affidavit that they have been for the Union all the while, and that their warlike demonstrations were only a highly flavored joke, to which no attention should be paid. They want to know who struck Billy Patterson. Will Mr. Lincoln point out the man who did it?

SURGEON OF MARINE HOSPITAL.

Dr. RALPH N. ISHAM, of this city, will be named as Surgeon of the Marine Hospital, in place of Prof. Brainard. Dr. Isham, is, we believe, a Professor in the Medical Department of the Lind University. He is a well educated physician, who will creditably discharge the duties of the place; and his appointment will doubtless give general satisfaction, though there are many who will regret that some one of our older physicians, Dr. Freer, or Dr. H. A. Johnson, was not selected for the important trust.

SPRING ELECTIONS.

RHODE ISLAND.

The official vote for Governor of Rhode Island is as follows:

Sprague	6,844	Smith ..... 10,200 Scat 140
Sprague over Smith, 1,644—over all, 1,504. Last year Sprague's majority was 1,460.

The majority for Sheffield, Conservative Republican, for Congress in the Eastern District, is 342; and for Browne, Conservative Union Democrat, in the Western District, is 555 instead of 1900, as before reported.

CONNECTICUT.

Gov. Buckingham's majority in Connecticut is full 2000. The Members of Congress stand as before reported—two Republicans and two Democrats. The Senate has 18 Republicans and 8 Democrats, and the House is Republican by nearly two to one.

WISCONSIN.

The following are the reported majorities in the counties named for the Supreme Judge, being all from which we have any reports:

	Cole's maj.		Knowlton's maj.
Jackson	500	Ozaukee	1,000
Racine	1,900	Rock	1,000
Brown	1,600	Dodge	2,200

Out-gamie	800
Sheboygan	500	Total	11,200
Total	19,800

Cole shead 8,500. If there be any reliance on the above reports, Cole is elected by a large majority.

ILLINOIS.

McHENRY Co.—The new Board of Supervisors stands, 12 Republicans to 5 Democrats—same as last year.

SANGAMON Co.—The Board of Supervisors of Sangamon county is politically divided 10 Republicans to 12 Democrats.

PIKE Co.—The Republicans carried Pittsfield and Ferry on Tuesday of last week.

WARREN Co.—The Board of Supervisors consists of 9 Republicans and 6 Democrats.

DUPAGE.—Naperville, Lisle and Milton elected Republican Supervisors, on Tuesday last. These are the only towns heard from.

ST. PAUL, MINN.

The Times and other Disunion prints are shouting over a Democratic victory in St. Paul. The fact that St. Paul has always been a Democratic city, and generally by a large majority than that obtained this spring, ought to somewhat modify their exultation.

From Washington.

[Telegraphic Cor. Cincinnati Commercial.]

WASHINGTON, April 8, 1861.

Lieut. Talbot, the special messenger of Major Anderson, arrived here early this morning. He was immediately taken to the White House by Secretary Cameron, where he remained for a lengthy interview with the President to convene an extra Cabinet meeting, which remained in session for nearly two hours. Nothing has yet transpired as to the precise character of the dispatches.

Much significance is justly attributed to the failure of a number of members of the Virginia Legislature, who came here to urge a continuation of the present military status of the South, to obtain satisfactory assurances at an interview they had with the President last evening.

Mr. Segar, one of their number, openly declared this morning that they could do nothing with the Executive, and that the country was on the brink of civil war.

The arguments before the Naval court martial in the case of Gongal-dore Armstrong were concluded this morning by the well known criminal pleader, P. Phelps, of this city, with a brilliant effort in behalf of the accused.

The trial has been one of the most remarkable on record. It was a most touching sight to see thirteen Commodores in the navy, none of whom had seen less than forty years service, and all of whom had fought and bled in the defence of the stars and stripes, sat in judgment over one who, after a spotless career of over fifty-two years, was now arraigned upon the charge of cowardice and treason.

The result of the trial will probably be known on Monday.

The sloop-of-war Pawnee left the Washington navy yard for Norfolk at 8 P. M. She sailed with sealed orders, and her officers and men are utterly ignorant as to their ultimate destination. She carries eight nine-inch Paixhan guns, two twelve pounders and a hundred and ninety men. She was put in perfect fighting trim before starting.

Mr. Russell, of the London Times, dined with the Southern Commissioners yesterday. He is about leaving for the South.

Marshal Sands and Gov. Dennison, and Attorney General Wolcott, arrived here this morning. The former two will urge Col. Swain as a proper successor to Judge McLean. They will find that the President's old friend, Judge Logan of Illinois, stands most in their way.

The name of Secretary Chase is also connected with the same position by some of his Ohio friends. But I do not think that he has the slightest desire to be placed on the bench.

Tom Corwin returned here last night; he will embark next week from New York on a Government vessel. The Mexican Government has tendered him an escort from Vera Cruz to the Capital.

Counting Man.—A young man, giving his name as Wm. D. Gall, professing to be a young r brother of the Aaron Gall, recently went to Frankfort, Ind., where he purchased a tract of land on which to erect a distillery and a number of men to work at making wheelbarrows. Ina time his creditors became clamorous for their pay, when he gave them a check for $9,000 on the Tecumseh Branch Bank. The check was not honored, when, professing great indignation, he borrowed a horse to go to Lafayette to see about the matter, and has not been heard from since. The horse is supposed to have carried him across the Wabash river.

From Pensacola.

From the Warrington correspondence of the Pensacola Observer of the 28th, we have the subjoined extracts:

The Wyandotte created some stir on yesterday by her movements; she steamed up and went out to the Sabine and St. Louis off the bar, the latter hoisted sail soon afterward; the Wyandotte returned, went up to the Navy Yard, left there soon afterward and proceeded to Pensacola. It appears that provisions over at Fort Pickens are not so very plentiful as was said to be the case. Anderson's fate seems to be pursuing Slemmer.

Col. Clayton of the Alabama regiment formerly, now of the Confederate States, generously donated the man who lost his arm, one hundred dollars.

A man was shot at the Redoubt last night, in attempting to pass the sentry without the countersign. He died soon afterward. No blame is attached to the sentry, as he only performed his duty. The deceased was a member of the Red Eagle Company.

The steamer Kate Iasle from Mobile, arrived here this morning with a large quantity of provisions, five hundred and twenty-five and 200 000 ball cartridges from Mount Vernon Arsenal, in charge of our gallant townsman, Lieut. R. L. Bowtman.

The Mobile Advertiser of the 28th, gives the following:

Capt. Ben Lane Posey of the "Red Eagles," arrived at 6½ o'clock this morning from Warrington, Fla., having left there yesterday evening at 3 o'clock. We gather from him the following items:

That he left there thirteen companies, numbering in the aggregate about 1000 men. Rivarson of these companies are from Alabama, one from Atlanta, Ga., and one from Milton, Fla. He informs us that the companies of Alabama troops have gone into the service of the Confederate States, his company being one of them.

Capt. Posey returns to-morrow, and will, in the meantime, receive new recruits for his company.

Capt. Posey has command of the "Redoubt," a very pretty little fort, 1000 yards in the rear of Barrancas. It is now, he tells us, the strategic point of the Pensacola navy yard. Cleveland is large measure, the safety of all the rest of the mainland posts, as it defends their inland approach in case of an attack in the rear.

A letter writer in the Montgomery Mail of Saturday last from a correspondent just returned from Pensacola. We make the following gleanings:

The most stirring incident of the past few days was the capture, on the night of the 26th inst., of the schooner Carry by Capt. Steedman of the Wilcox True Blues. The schooner, taking advantage of the shadows of night, was trying, against orders, to convey coal and supplies clandestinely to the ship Wyandotte, for the use of the United States fleet. The officer in command getting wind of her mission, ordered Capt. Steedman to proceed with a detachment from his company, and, if possible, intercept her. The gallant young captain, procuring an open boat, made chase, and, after some difficulty in finding her, succeeded in capturing her and bringing her safely down off the Wyandotte, and proudly bore her back as the first prize of the new Confederacy.

Another incident, intimately connected with the military arrangements below, is a very diminutive steamer used for patrolling the bay, to prevent supplies reaching the enemy. Some of the boys have christened her "Wild Cat," and manned with a detachment of volunteers, it is interesting to watch her as birdlike she sends over the dark blue waters, now stopping and dallying about the Wyandotte, as if coaxing her for a fight, now seeming, for very frolic and mischief, close to the walls of Fort Pickens, seeming to say to her, "Take a pop if you want to," and then, apparently emboldened with her success, dashing out beyond the range, with a sort of dare devil effrontery, making the circuit of the fleet, and may be overhauling some suspected craft, under guns, a single broadside of which would blow her to atoms. She is the terror of the few bad men on that part of the coast whose cupidity or treachery lead them to carry on an illicit traffic with our enemies. As the germ of the Navy of the new Republic —"long may she wave!"

THE CITY.

☞ SEE FOURTH PAGE.

COMMON COUNCIL MEETING.—There was no quorum last night. Present, Aldermen Marshall, Kennedy, Hibbard, Prindiville, Perkins and Bottsford.

GONE.—The colored man Hayes, the wretched stool pigeon used by Marshal Jones to betray his colored brethren, has left the city. He borrowed a team at Cicero and left for parts unknown.

MISS HELEN M. DRESSER.—This young lady lecturer who has been before the public for two years past, and in that time delivered several hundred lectures, with great acceptance is to lecture at Metropolitan Hall on Thursday evening next. Subject, "Life, character, and designs of Brigham Young."

PHILHARMONIC CONCERT. The sixth regular monthly concert of the Philharmonic Society will take place in Bryan Hall on Saturday, April 14th. The programme embraces the Overture to William Tell, by Rossini, and La Tirene, by Auber; also one of the most popular and pleasing symphonies by Mozart, No. 3, in E flat.

PRESENTATION—CHICAGO HIGHLAND GUARD.—This fine Company gave the ball of the season at their armory last Friday evening and a brilliant affair it was. A remarkable feature of the occasion was the presentation of a splendid tea service to Capt. McArthur, to whom the members of the Company are devotedly attached. The presentation was made by Esaign Maclean, in an eloquent speech. Captain McArthur responded in a short but feeling manner, thanking the members of the Company for their splendid and unexpected present.

This Company, with their gallant Captain, deserve the credit of the community—they have always been first to offer their services, when needed, and our citizens will remember the patriotic spirit displayed by them in offering their services to the General Government.

SALE OF THE WIGWAM.—The great Wigwam has become the property of Orrington Lunt, representing the Board of Trustees of Garrett Biblical Institute. The price paid is $950, nearly three-fourths of which will be required to meet the outstanding liabilities on the building. The excess is to be divided between the charitable institutions named in the conditions of the agreement between the Building Committee and the city. This dividend is so large one, but it would have been larger had the city authorities pursued a course in the matter that might justly have been expected of them. As it is, the Orphan Asylum and the Home of the Friendless get little or nothing, all due to petty official spite and illiberality. The building, by means of a total lack of completion has become the property of the owners of the real estate on which it stands. We learn it is contemplated to divide it up for business purposes.

JUST AS WE EXPECTED—If any person doubts whether advertisements are read, let them consider such instances as that of an impudent trickster, whose advertisements in the daily papers of this city within the past fortnight have netted him from two to three hundred dollars, taken and swindled out of persons ily able to lose their $5 fee, but which latter sum will be no bad investment, either, if the experience bought leads them hereafter to keep clear of impudent quackeries of this nature. The fellow offered to teach pupils the art of painting upon glass in a certain number of lessons, and, as an additional inducement, advertised that after the pupils learned, if they gave satisfaction, he would give them $5 per day, and guarantee them employment for a year. The pupils were to pay him three dollars in advance.

The swindle was exposed last week in our columns, but not in season to save the from seventy-five to one hundred persons, chiefly ladies, who were victimized. The professor of the art of painting on glass found his humbug a trifle too transparent, and he vamosed on Saturday, leaving nothing behind but his guarantees. We pity the girls who were deluded, but advise one and all to be more careful next time. As to the swamp, he called himself Prof. Broadbent, which may or may not be his real name. The press of neighboring cities will do well to look out for him. It is a good rule to read advertisements, but it is a still better one to be careful to what extent you believe them, for any other man.

Recorder's Court.

Henry Bissel, late Corporation Counsel, yesterday morning of larceny of a pair of horses and a wagon. He plead not guilty and insane. Upon the testimony of Drs. Brainard and Allen as to his sanity, the jury convicted and sentenced him one year in the penitentiary.

Louis Pfiffer, an old habitue of the Criminal Courts, was convicted of larceny, but the value of the property fixed at 6c. The same Court again fines the Penitentiary, but gives him 5 years.

I. Y. Munn, Esq. introduced a resolution resolution regarding the collection of statistics of our home manufactures, exports, and imports of foreign goods, and calling upon the commercial papers of the city to aid pecuniarily in the undertaking. After some discussion the resolution was carried.

The Board then adjourned.

Height of Policemen.

Our snarling, slander-peddling mayor abuses the Police Commissioners because they have selected good sized men for their force. The men must be over five feet eight inches, and under forty years of age, stout built and able bodied. Why is five feet eight too high, the reader would like to know? There is no man in the United States would offer the reason for the objection, but Long John, which is given, viz: That the majority of Germans are men of slow stature, and that the rule was adopted to cut them off! The true reason was, that the Board wanted a force of stout, muscular, large-sized men. As the number of policemen is limited to about sixty, it was necessary to put on the most efficient men in every respect that could be selected.

Those of our readers who have been in New York must have been struck by the large size and powerful appearance of the policemen. A majority of them will weigh over 170 pounds, and measure five feet eleven inches. They are emphatically big fellows and men of muscle. Every one can handle his man with ease. A great deal of the peace and security of a city depends upon the impression law breakers and bad characters have of the police force. If they are known to be powerful, resolute, active men, evil doers make it a point to keep out of their clutches as far as practicable. In a city like Chicago where there is such a superabundance of good material we would have advised that the standard hight should be five feet nine, maximum age 35 years.

The talk about excluding Germans is a Wentworth canard. A German regiment of 1,000 men can be raised in this city, and not a man of them will measure under five feet eight inches. Many Germans may be short men, but there are a superabundance tall enough to conform to the stand fixed by the Board. Though their legs may not average more than half as long in proportion to their bodies as do the Mayor's.

POLICE COURT.—This tribunal presented its usual motley appearance yesterday, and several old brulsers were sent to bruise stone at Bridewell.

The smoke and odor are consumed by the burner, and the light is about equal to that of the three candles. The inventor assures us that both a pint of good oil will burn thirty hours.

COLLECTING REVENUE ON SHIP-BOARD.

When Mr. Lincoln entered upon the administration of the duties of his office as President, he said in his inaugural that he recognized no right in any State to secede from the Union. He also avowed his intention to enforce the laws and collect the revenue. We have no idea that he has receded an hair's breadth from this declared intention. It is only with him a question of power. Has he the power under the present laws to collect the revenues in the seceded States?

The enforcement of the revenue laws is about the highest duty that devolves upon the Administration. The revenue is the fund upon which a State, or a Republic, relies for its means to seize and convert to their own uses the Federal Government will shortly and itself in the jaws of starvation. Any government that will not defend its own bread and butter, ought to starve. The conduct of the insurgents in confiscating Federal revenues is no more lawful than the act of the freebooter, who stops a man on the street on Saturday night, and robs him of his week's wages; and if the man should draw a pistol and shoot the robber in his tracks, he would be perfectly justified. The forms and ceremonies and usages of polite society are not to be heeded on such occasions.

Since the control of the custom-houses and warehouses in Southern ports have been usurped under alleged State authority, and the Federal revenue officers have been forcibly excluded, it has become impracticable to collect the imposts on shore on goods shipped to those ports. But the place where the owner of the goods pays the duty, is no part of the substance of the law—it goes merely to the form. The receipt of the Government, given on the deck of a revenue cutter, will be just as valid as if given in the custom-house on shore. "But," says an ally of the Secessionists, "where does Lincoln derive his authority for receiving duties on board of a man-of-war?" We reply that he obtains it from the necessities of the situation. Laws, such have carried upon the custom-houses in ports, expelled the collectors and usurped the functions of the Government. A foreign vessel arrives with a cargo of goods; a Government officer on board of a man of war anchored in the harbor, boards the merchantman and informs the captain and party in charge of the goods that the town is in a state of insurrection, and the Government at present is not prepared to receive the duties on shore, but will on ship-board. What difference does it make to the owner of the goods whether he pays them in the cabin of an American war steamer, or in the office of the custom house? But it may be objected that he desires to place his goods in bond. The reply to this is, that for the present the warehouses at the port in question are in the hands of the enemies of the Government, and that it is not prepared to receive them; that a legal bond could neither be executed nor enforced, as the United States District Court has been coerced into resigning, by the insurgents. The owner of the goods would be told to sail to the nearest loyal port, and there land and warehouse his fabrics. But even this slight trouble to the importer need not occur, because as soon as the Administration has determined upon its line of policy, notice will be given to American Ministers and Consuls at all foreign shipping ports, and unless the owner of goods was willfully perverse, he would not send them to a port in a rebellious State. If he did, his Government would not interfere in his behalf, as it would have no right to do so.

The foreign exporter cannot object to paying the duties on shipboard. He has no legal right to escape payment of imposts; nor has he right to acknowledge the independence of the mob on shore which may be in a state of insurrection against the Government. The revenue rights of the Government are of paramount consideration, and importers may not impair or destroy them.

Can the insurgents object to the collection of imposts on shipboard? Certainly not; because if there be any irregularity or want of formality in the execution of the revenue law, they are the sole cause of it. A man is not allowed to shelter himself behind a technicality caused by his own wrong-doing; nor is he permitted to take advantage of consequences that may inure to his own benefit, brought about by his unlawful conduct, nor can he hold another to the literal performance of an agreement when he has thrown obstacles in the way of its execution. So of the usurping insurgents; they cannot object to the collection of the revenue on board of a man-of-war in the harbor, when they themselves have seized upon the custom-houses, and driven away the collectors. It is the duty of the Government first to collect every cent of the revenue, and according to the forms prescribed by the statute, as nearly as the force of circumstances will permit.

Loyal citizens will not object to the form, as it is their interest to have the imposts paid. Their rights as well as the self-preservation of the Government, are at stake, and when the usurpers are the cause of the informality, it becomes a non-essential. The payment of duties to the Federal officers on ship-board, is no act of war on the part of the Government. Unless the insurgents take the attack, no collision will occur. If the Government be assailed, it will be acting strictly on the defensive if it repel the assault, and those in the North who take the part of the rebels render themselves liable to be dealt with as traitors.

If the insurgents are proper to levy a second duty upon the goods that may land in their ports, that is their matter. If they can afford to carry on two governments, let them enjoy the luxury. But Uncle Sam's Government being considerably older than Uncle Cuffee's, the first tribute is due to it by right and precedent. Therefore, let the revenues be collected, on shore if they can, but on ship-board if they must.

THE GREAT MARSH FOR RANKING.

Now, while the people of Illinois and the country are suffering under the effects of our ridiculous currency system, it is hoped they will reflect carefully upon the whole subject of banking, and if they cannot immediately put in practice correct principles of finance, they will at least adopt them, preparatory to their laws at the earliest opportunity.

The fundamental principle that lies at the base of every safe banking law is that bills which issued shall be readily convertible into coin. Whenever they cannot be so converted at the option of the holder they are at once depreciated, and their value is regulated by the difficulty and the risk incident to their conversion. Money is therefore the only basis for banking. No amount of legislation can make a 90 per dollar, worth the thing it purports to be, unless the bank that utters it has the dollar in coin to hand over forit when presented for redemption. This principle has been demonstrated so often that the world ought to be satisfied to adopt it and to embody it in laws so stringent and comprehensive that its evasion would be absolutely impossible.

The issues which the people of the West will be obliged to suffer on our "well-secured" currency ought to be a useful train- [illegible] school of experience for all the [illegible] The circulation of the banks in this State and Wisconsin are, in the rejected list, as near as we can get at it from the official reports published last week, to [illegible] Illinois is [illegible] We have heard of the [illegible] Racine [illegible] Green Bay [illegible] we in them, but [illegible] [illegible] [illegible]

TUESDAY, APRIL 9, 1861.

MONETARY.

MONDAY EVENING, April 8, 1861.

This has been decidedly a "blue" day. The streets are muddy and cheerless; the skies are frowning when it is not raining, and altogether business is dull. Another decline was realized in stocks. By the telegraphic reports from New York, Tennessees closed at 73, Missouris at 61¾, Virginias at 72¾, and all the leading railway shares were "down." Everything was "down" except exchange, and that went up to ¾ cent. premium, and most of the banks reported it dizzy at that. The buying price was 4@¼ pr. Some were glad to pay, towards the close, a fraction above the highest figure. No one, however, expects it to remain at the present price, for the Straits must yield before many days more.

The demand for money continues very light. A large amount of produce paper would be gladly taken, but nobody seems to have any to offer.

Gold is firm and scarce. The selling price to-day is 8@¾ ₰ cent., with tendency to the higher figure. Buying offers 8@¼.

There is nothing new to-day in regard to current matters. The brokers are buying the rejected at 75 cents, and we hear of outside parties paying a small fraction higher. Seventy-five may be regarded as the "current rate." The volume of our currency has been reduced about one-half by the thorough revision our bankers have given it. The Illinois list embraces $5,005,609, and that of Wisconsin $2,003,939. The footings are $7,746,520. The bankers are now buying the stuff at 75 cents; but we do not believe they get rid of it at 80 cents for the people of the West will loose more than a million and a half of dollars. The issues of the banks, not in the rejected list amount to $7,854,883, and the business of the two great States of Illinois and Wisconsin will furnish profitable employment for that amount of currency. Hence it is believed the owners of these banks will, if possible, keep them good. If we understand the Illinois law correctly, our banks will all be forced to make and to keep their securities good after the 15th of April, or they will be subject to protest, and their bonds to be withdrawn and sold as those now in liquidation.

ST. LOUIS.—The Democrat of Saturday says:

The exchange market to-day has exhibited no new features. Sight is firm at ¾ ₰ cent. premium for Missouri funds, and New Orleans remains quiet at ¼ ₰ premium—not much doing in either. No discounts and no paper offering. First class paper would be taken readily at fair rates. A very close discrimination is the order in currency, but the best Illinois and Wisconsin money is taken at the usual rates.

CINCINNATI.—We quote as follows from the Gazette of Saturday:

There was a heavier demand for loans than yesterday, but currency continued in good supply. Acceptable paper was placed without difficulty, and for this class of business the market was quite easy, rates ranging from 9 to 12 per cent.

Contrary to expectation, there was a stronger demand for exchange yesterday, and while the sales were, in the aggregate, somewhat in excess of the receipts, rates were more nominal. New Orleans was dull at quotations. Gold inactive at ¾@¾ prem. We quote:

	Buying.	Selling.
New York Sight.....	¼ dis.	¼ prem.
New Orleans.....	¾@1 dis.	¼ @¾ pr.
Interior Ohio.....	½@¾ dis.	par.

BOSTON BANKS.—The "statement" of the Boston banks for the last week compares with the previous week, and for the corresponding week of 1860, as follows:

	April 1, 1861.	April 2, 1860.
Loans.....	$61,308,922	$60,181,794
Specie.....	5,501,871	5,705,366
Deposits.....	17,811,027	18,609,849
Circulation.....	5,050,240	4,945,240

The statement of the present week, as compared with the preceding, shows an increase of $306,878 in the items of the loans and discounts, $317,515 in deposits, $49,054 in circulation, and an increase of $108,049 in specie.

PHILADELPHIA BANKS.—Annexed is the statement of the Pittsburgh banks for the last week:

	Loans.	Specie.
Bank of Pittsburgh.....	$1,560,519	$ 408,479
Exchange.....	1,143,023	335,144

The steamer Canadian, with Liverpool dates to the 30th, via telegraph, reached this port early yesterday morning. Quiet and steady; corn declined 1d.—closing steady; provisions generally dull.

There was a good demand for flour this morning —prices ruled unchanged—and the market was active, and about 2c higher—with sales of 3,600 brls at $4.25@$4.50 for fair to choice spring extras, and $3.00@$3.80 for superfine. Among the day's transactions, was $1,000 brls of a city brand, at $4.40—for direct shipment to Liverpool, via Boston. Round lots of good extras were in particular request, and the barrenness of the market limited sales very materially. The wheat market ruled steady, but less active, and after the receipt of the New York dispatches, it closed quiet but firm. Sales of 40,000 bushels at 130@131c for No. 1 spring; and 128@129c for winter receipts No. 2 spring, closing at 79c. Corn was in good request, but holders were very firm, and the transactions were trifling, at 30@30½c for prime, and 29½c according to the date of the receipts. Oats were sold at 16c on track. Rye, 45c delivered. Barley dull.

There was an active demand for Timothy Seed, and the mn ket ruled a shade higher, with sales at $2.25@2.50. Clover remains quiet with light sales at $3.00. No demand for Hungarian or Millet.

Provisions remain quiet but firm. Holders of Mess Pork, in view of the prospects of war, are holding their stocks for higher rates; but the inquiry at present is light. Bulk Meats are in fair demand for the South; but the market is almost bare. To-day we note sales of 1000 Sides at 8½c loose, and 1500 Shoulders at 5½@6 loose. The advices from the Eastern Exchange has caused rather more inquiry for Lard, and the market is a shade firmer —50 bbls having changed hands at 9½c—an advance of ½c since Saturday.

The market for Live Stock yesterday and to-day was more lively and prices of both Cattle and Hogs ruled higher. This is partly due to the unwillingness of drovers to accept our currency—many of them having made up their minds to ship to New York, unless a material allowance was paid to secure them against loss sustained by depreciated bills. This alone, it is estimated, cost buyers $2.00 per head on prime cattle.
